About Andre Reznitchenko

Andre Reznitchenko is a attorney-at-law and partner at AKD. He specialises in commercial and corporate law dispute resolution and advises and represents businesses operating at national and international levels in the event of disputes about, for example, professional liability, D&O liability, broken off negotiations, acquisitions, earn-outs and guarantee and indemnification claims.

Andre has plenty of experience with commercial disputes and disputes between shareholders, directors and supervisory directors. In addition, he acts on behalf of groups of consumers, companies and investors in class action disputes, including several of the parties duped by the Volkswagen emissions scandal.

His clients include trade associations, independent professionals, directors, supervisory directors, shareholders and (international) companies.

He represents his clients before various courts and arbitration institutes, in first instance and in appellate proceedings. Andre speaks Dutch, English and Russian.
